Multi-Year Capital Planning and Budgeting

These days, understanding the financial implications of technology is as important as the technology itself, so OneEQ offers a range of services to ensure that the right decisions are made for the right reasons and at the right time. While our unparalleled experience is the backbone of our approach, we rely on verifiable data and fact-based analysis to help our clients create realistic, achievable budgets. Our goal is to drive greater efficiency, optimize utilization and help mitigate risk.

We begin by developing a comprehensive, multi-year equipment planning strategy to provide decision-makers with real-time analytics in a simple, user-friendly dashboard. We analyze such factors as workflow, equipment use and status as well as life-cycle costs and issues, including operations and maintenance, scalability and manufacturer longevity.

This approach looks beyond first costs and fosters greater buy-in to the budgeting process by ensuring each department can identify current and future replacement capital as well as quickly determine and enforce contract compliance, track changes to equipment lists, and budget for variations all in one place. Planners can view accurate, up-to-date specifications, decreasing expensive change orders. And, by centralizing all equipment requests through a single point of contact, helps maximize volume discounts with suppliers and group purchasing organizations.
